Eastern United States Rocked By Earthquake

LITTLE DAMAGE REPORTED OVER AREA INVOLVED

Buffalo, Syracuse, Erie
Albany Feel Tremor
Early Today

OHIO OBSERVER RECORDS SHOCK

Lasts 15 Seconds; Felt
Over 500 Mile Radius

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Upper
New York state and parts of Pennsylvania were rocked early today by an earthquake which was felt in the region of excitement and a shaking of damage.

The shock, which was only of moderate intensity, was felt in Syracuse, Buffalo, Albany, Erie, Pa., and smaller towns.

It was first felt in Syracuse, from where the quake spread out, in all directions within a radius of several hundred miles.

Many persons were jarred by the tremor and in several instances buildings were seen to tremble, but damage was negligible.

At Albany, earthquake experts said the shock was less intense than the quake which visited the city in 1924.

Seismograph experts at various universities declared the quake began at approximately 6:25 a. m. and lasted for approximately 30 seconds.

Cleveland, Aug. 12.—A sharp quake was recorded on the seismograph at the John Carroll university observatory here at 6:25 a. m. today.

The disturbance lasted 15 seconds and was felt within a radius of 500 miles from the Niagara Falls region, according to Father Frederick Schubach, who is in charge of the university here.

Recent reports indicate that the quake was spread mostly eastward, especially in New York Pennsylvania and Vermont. There were no indications that the quake was felt as far west as Michigan or Chicago, Father Schubach said.

The tremor, according to reports here, was distinctly felt at Erie, Pa., and throughout the whole Niagara region, including the Canadian border. At Erie, it was said, the quake jarred houses and displaced furniture and dishes.

At Batavia, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Severe earth tremors of a minute's duration were felt here at 6:20 a. m. today. A wall of a brick building was cracked and several chimneys were toppled over.

The shock was so severe that it shook houses and people had difficulty standing up.

The tremors, which were felt generally throughout western New York, were the first in the memory of the oldest residents.

DAVIDSON GIVES CAMPAIGN STAND

Republican Candidate In Favor of Enforcement
Of All Laws

"In seeking the nomination for mayor of the City of Salem, I have full realization that the head of the municipal government is only the servant of the people as a whole, and of no clique or clan, and that such an officer is answerable to the public for all his official acts," declared John M. Davidson, Republican candidate for the nomination of mayor at the primary election Tuesday today.

Davidson has been a resident of Salem for over 30 years and has been employed by the Salem China Co. since that factory was placed in operation in the fall of 1898. He has also been a member of the Salem Civil Service Commission since its organization by an act of the legislature, and for the last 12 years has been president of that body.

Election Board Official Cites Qualifications

Voters in the primary election in Salem, Tuesday must have been a qualified resident of Ohio for a period of one year, have lived in Columbiana county for thirty days, and resided in the precinct in which they now reside and expect to cast their vote tomorrow, or ten days.

Qualifications for Salem voters were announced today by C. A.
Cavanaugh, Salem service director and member of the county board of elections.

Those who voted for the majority of Republican candidates at the last general election must vote the Republican ticket tomorrow, while the same rule applies to Democrats, Cavanaugh stated.

Minors, who will become of age between now and the November election are qualified to vote tomorrow, he announced. No one who resides outside the city's corporation limits is qualified to vote on city offices.

Three Seriously Hurt In Crash Near Lisbon

Mrs. Fred Paisley, of Wellsville, Mrs. George Paisley and Miss Gladys Strobel of New Philadelphia were seriously injured when the car in which they were riding was knocked from the road by a hit-skip driver on the Lincoln highway near Lisbon Sunday afternoon. All are expected to recover.

Mrs. Fred Paisley sustained a fractured shoulder and severe lacerations of the left arm and head.

Mrs. George Paisley was badly cut about the neck and head while Miss Strobel sustained head lacerations.

Eleven passengers, five of them children, were reported in the automobile which was driven by George Paisley of New Philadelphia.

Automobiles driven by Fred W.
Remmy, of Akron, and John Ramsey of Elk Run township were demolished in a collision on the Lincoln highway near Lisbon. No one was injured.

Undaunted by clouds which threatened rain, thousands of Ohioans flocked to Buckeye state roads yesterday and today 15 of them are dead.

Automobile collisions claimed the greater number of lives. Five persons, in various parts of the state, were run down and killed by autos.
Sixteen persons were injured in an accident. It occurred near Columbus.

Justice of Peace George W. Allen, Republican candidate for the mayorality nomination at Tuesday's primary election will face trial before Justice of Peace D. J. Bureaw's court, at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, on two charges of assault and battery.

The charges were filed against Allen by Lawrence Smeltz and Carl Wilson, both of Salem, following an argument, alleged to have occurred in the justice political offices on Main st., about 5 p. m. Saturday.
The plaintiffs, in affidavits filed in Bureaw's court, accuse Allen of chasing them from his office with a chair.

The argument is reported to have resulted from a bill of $105, which Allen is said to owe Smeltz for painting a house on East High st.
The mayoralty candidate has promised to donate to the city at his election.

TRIAL OF CO-ED SLAYER DRAWS NEAR TO CLOSE

Defense Not To Call Upon Alienists As Witnesses

Courtroom, Columbus, O., Aug. 12.
—The trial of Dr. James H. Snook, slayer of Theora Hix, co-ed beauty,
drew toward a close today.

Less than a dozen defense witnesses remained to be heard when court was adjourned until 1:30 this afternoon. E. O. Ricketts, chief counsel for the defense said the defense may rest late today.

The case is expected to go to the jury Wednesday or Thursday.

Decision of the defense to abandon its plan to summon alienists to bolster its contention Snook was "insane" when he hammered and slashed Miss Hix to death has cut the trial at least two days. The defense will concentrate on the plea of self-defense rather than insanity.

Dr. Snook seemed dejected in court today. He sat looking at the floor, a glum expression on his face.
Something appeared to be very-ing him. Jail attaches said he was depressed over the Sabath. He was visited in his cell Sunday night by his wife, Mrs. Helen Snook and his mother, Mrs. Abner Snook.

Courtroom, Columbus, O., Aug. 12.
—Sharp words were exchanged today when Judge John F. Seidel, one of the attorneys, defending Dr.
James H. Snook for the murder of Theora Hix, underwent a severe cross-examination at the hands of Prosecutor John J. Chester, Jr.
Seidel took the stand and testified that the signed confession of Snook, later repudiated, was obtained under duress.

WHY CRIME PREVAILS

It was with more than passing interest that one read last week the statement of Justice James E. Robinson of the Ohio supreme court, to the effect he is confirmed in the theory that prevalence of crime in the United States, in comparison with European nations, lies in the comparative ease with which paroles are obtained.

In Justice Robinson's opinion the simplicity of the Ohio parole system—and the parole system elsewhere, for that matter—is a most important agent in provoking crime.

The government spends thousands of dollars in the maintenance of courts and the conduct of exhaustive trials. The judge determines the punishment. And then in many cases, a prison warden, ignorant, perhaps, of the exact nature of the crime or the conditions which may have surrounded it, paroles the offender. Thus the prisoner is set at liberty, perhaps to commit another crime.

Thus—Justice Robinson summed up his conclusions. He pointed out, too, that the automobile has made a quick "get-away" after crime simple, and added that because citizens walk the streets unarmed they are open to attack by thugs. A score of years ago, he said, folks traveling went armed, and criminals were not so ready to step in.

Justice Robinson rose from boyhood on the farm near Uniontown to a small town lawyer, and thence to the state supreme court. And because of his observations over a long period of time in close contact with the machinery of all law-enforcing agencies, Justice Robinson is in a position to speak with unusual authority on the subject of crime and its contributory causes.

VOTE

Once again Salem voters are granted the privilege enjoyed by every American citizen—that of going to the polls tomorrow, and casting a vote for the candidate of their choice in the mayoralty race. Interest in the political battle as displayed throughout the city in the last three weeks is high, but it is a matter of conjecture whether many who participated in various discussions of politics will be included in the line of march to the various polling places.

The average American voter has a distinctly erroneous idea concerning the primary election. He, or it may be she, thinks that it is of little importance, and that the final November election, when the political battles for the various offices have narrowed down to the allowed number of candidates, is the time for him to get out and vote.

Until that idea is discarded by the majority of voters who fail to cast their vote, the political situation of many American cities will remain unchanged. Elections are one of the most vital elements in civic life—perhaps the most vital, for it is through the casting of votes by the entire body of electors, that the most representative candidate for office is chosen.

With the arrival of every election comes the plea from interested citizens to other residents of the city to "get out and vote." This request has become almost traditional, but it should be so. Not too great stress can be placed upon the necessity of every voter getting to the polls, for he has been granted that right by the American Constitution in the hope that all electors use it.

TELEVISION

Television has reached that stage in its development where it is beginning to claim public attention. It is by no means perfected. Yet C. Francis Jenkins, the engineer who has been chiefly instrumental in the work, insists that small sets, the size of radio cabinets, will be in use this autumn.

The effect on popular amusements may be profound. The owners of motion picture theaters are known to be watching the progress of television with some apprehension. What will happen when, talking pictures, theatrical performances and grand opera, can be reproduced in the home.

Only small black and white pictures will be broadcast at first, and only a few people will be able to get close enough to the miniature screen to see the motion pictures. But steady progress is predicted until the movies are rivaled by the radio picture—perhaps in five years.

What will be the final outcome? Evidently there are great possibilities in the broadcasting of news events. In the next presidential campaign we are told we shall see the candidates, as well as hear them. While we listen to descriptions of football games or games in the world series, we may be able to see the plays. Boat races, celebrations, army maneuvers all will be brought within our range of vision.

The question of where the revenue to maintain television is to come from has not been widely discussed. But there is a suspicion that the manufacturers would like to try the experimenting of licensing sets, instead of selling them. That is the practice with radio sets in England, and produces a dependable revenue to pay for broadcasting.

Apparently the chief certainty in the situation is that a transforming invention is on the way; that its effects may upset some business institutions and develop others; just how and where and when still is a matter of speculation.

What Others Say

GOUGING TOURISTS

American tourists in parts of Ontario are protesting against being gouged by hotel and restaurant keepers. They are doing it with a vengeance that is attracting the attention of a province that tapped tourist pockets to the tune of $100,000 last year and therefore is inclined to listen to the voice of the goose that lays the golden egg. They have a right to protest, when they are stung, whether in their own country or any other. They also have the right to give the gougers a wide berth, which they are likely to exercise if the process of painful extraction continues.

At the same time, Americans should not set down this reprehensible practice to international prejudice. Gouging tourists is not a peculiarly Canadian vice. American hotel and restaurant keepers and tradesmen have been known to raise their prices during the open season for easy marks. Country constables and justices on this side of the line rode tourists hard until a few of them went to jail. A dollar and a half for a dish of bacon and eggs sounds pretty stiff even for the Niagara peninsula; but it should be remembered that a similar inducement to switch to caviar is held out in parts of the United States, at this season of the year, where there is no such esthetic compensation as Niagara Falls provide.

Americans can make their bacon and eggs more palatable by assuming that the extension to Canada of the old army game of fleeing the innocent is just one more evidence of the "Americanization" of the dominion. They should try to feel at home among prices that remind them of sad experiences on their own side of the border. As a last resort they might appeal from the pocketbook of the Canadian gouger to his patriotism, which should prevent him from importing even so unprofitable a custom from a country that is preparing to raise its tariff on its exports.—Detroit Free Press.

CAREFUL FEEDING WILL HELP BABY TO HEALTH

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Men and women are only grown-up children. The ailments they have are much the same as those experienced by an infant. The only practical difference is that older persons have gained strength and with it, the ability to resist disease.

In the long list of human ailments, troubling us from the cradle to the grave, is that old enemy of mankind, indigestion. You have it, your father and grandfather suffered from it, and your grandchildren will have it. From babyhood to old age, it is the most common of complaints.

Why should indigestion be so frequent an ailment? You will ask this question, but you know the answer as well as I do.

Too much food, unsuitable food, contaminated food—in one of these is found the answer to your question. You can "choke" the machine of your automobile by giving it too much gas. It rebels at once. Likewise, your stomach and digestive organs rebel against an excess of food.

A tiny baby must be fed in exactly the proper way or there will be trouble, trouble which starts more quickly than it does in an adult. The symptoms produced by the wrong feeding are likely to be much more violent than in the grown up.

Vomiting is a common sign in infants. If fed too fast, too often, or too much, the baby is almost sure to vomit within a few minutes after the bottle is finished.

It is a very important thing to have the hole in the rubber nipple exactly the right size. If the opening is too large, the milk is received so rapidly that the stomach resists. Five minutes is too short a time to empty a bottle. A quarter of an hour or even 20 minutes is about right.

Let me warn the mother, however, that it is almost as bad to permit

HOT WEATHER ADVICE TO MOTHERS OF BABIES

I beg of you to remember that babies get thirsty. Many a child waits for want of water.

You know how you can suffer on a hot day without an ample supply of water. A little baby can suffer terribly from the same cause.

Many a young mother believes that the fluid milk the baby is given is all the liquid it requires. This is not the case. A teaspoonful of cool water will bring a smile of happiness to the face of the baby.

It is not safe to give a tiny infant water out of the tap or out of the well. It is rare indeed for any ordinary drinking water to be entirely free from germ life of some sort. This water is not tainted sufficiently to be harmful to adults, but it might be very disturbing to a little baby.

All the water given an infant should be prepared just as carefully as the milk is. It should be vigorously boiled. After this the bottle is stoppered and put away to cool. This is the only sort of water which should be given to a baby.

GRAND OPERA TO BE SHOWN AGAIN IN PITTSBURGH

City Plans To Compete With Others In Classics

Pittsburgh, Aug. 12.—This city is about to throw down the gauntlet of competition to New York and Chicago in the art realm of grand opera.

Plans were announced today for the Pittsburgh company, which will open ambitiously October 14 with Rigoletto, Verdi's stirring masterpiece. From that date the program branches out, taking in most of the better known classic of opera.

The singers of the chorus have accomplished it themselves. Without pay, or any great prospect of pay they have practiced long and diligently each trill and cadenza and have labored studiously on harmonies and matters of tone treatment, to give Western Pennsylvania a genuine rendition.

This is the assurance of Frank Vittor, Pittsburgh sculptor, who lapped over a bit to take part in direction of the project.

Singers Loyal
"These singers have labored with no definite promise of reward even should the venture prove profitable," Vittor hastened to assure, lest the taint of commercialism be attached to the scheme. Which moved critics to inquire who would get the profits, if any.

"We have made tentative arrangements with Gagli, Rosa Ponselle and Anasta, among others, to be the leading parts in various operas that are to be presented and if the services of Paganucci are free, he will most likely be secured as trainer and leader of the chorus," Vittor said. "It seems assured that the Pittsburgh Grand Opera Company's maiden efforts will be more than up to expectations."

"I see no reason why the movement should not be heartily supported by the city and for the sake of the thousands I know who appreciate opera but cannot afford the usual exorbitant prices, I sincerely hope it will be."

Prices Moderate
It had been announced by backers of the opera here that the prices would be commensurate with the average man's ability to pay for opera. But there was no specific information as to what amount the backers considered was enough for an ordinary citizen to pay for grand opera.

The program includes La Traviata, Il Trovatore, Cavalleria Rusticana, Pagliacci, Carmen, Lucia di Lammermoor, Tosca, La Boheme, Madame Butterfly, Faust, Rigoletto. The operas will be given in Syria Mosque.

After plans materialize, the company may be taken to Youngstown, Akron and other cities.

Merge British Films To Save Industry

London, Aug. 12.—Declaring it is the only way the British film industry can be saved from its present dire plight, Sir Gordon Craig, foremost British movie producer, today urged the dozens of film companies operating here to merge into two main groups and quit fighting one another.

"It is still customary for members of the film industry here to regard each other as natural enemies," Sir Craig stated. "That is all wrong. Film producers should take a leaf from America's note-book and band together as allies."

"Instead of the American system of producing companies controlling the distribution of their films, we in England have a large number of small, struggling companies which obstruct each other, overlap in their expenses, and in some cases negatively each other's efforts."

"There is no industry in all Britain where mutual dependency is so completely lacking as the film industry. It is not so much that the industry is split by petty quarrelling as that its members are each padding their own canoe and getting in each other's way."

"I visualize all three sections of the trade—producers, distributors and exhibitors—organized into two competitive groups, each led by a man of ability who knows the intricacies of the business."

"This is the only solution to our problems. The national benefits which would result from this reorganization and the corresponding increase in the prosperity of the industry would be very great."

"We in England have been too slow to realize the importance of the cinema to trade. You Americans say that the film is your first sales catalog. And that is the truth."

Wichita Jailbirds In Unlocked Prison

Wichita, Aug. 12.—It was discovered recently that the hundreds of prisoners locked in the city jail were during the past few months, perhaps the thousands locked in during the past few years, were not prisoners at all, if they only had a key.

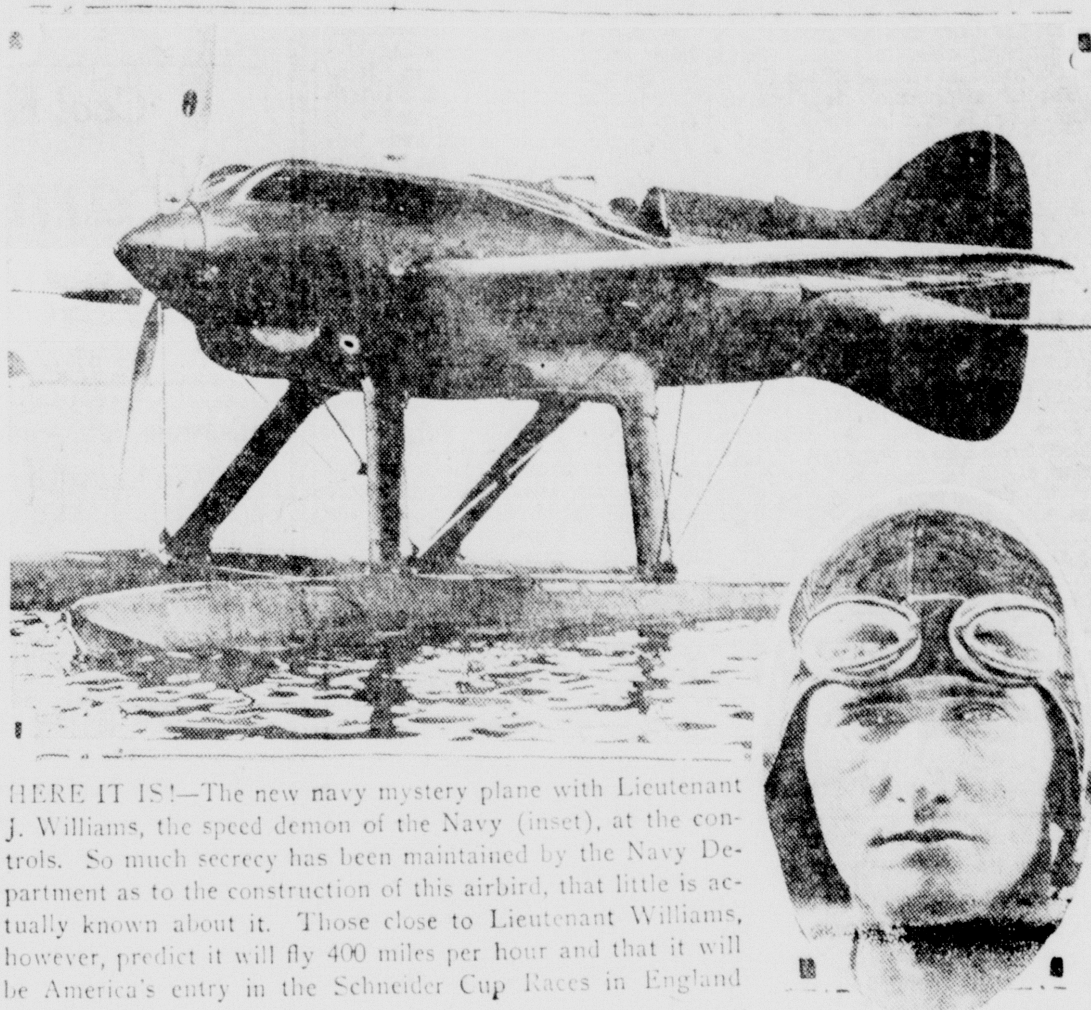

Back to the main door of the jail, which had been rusted out or been welded for ever so long and the prisoners were freed. Evidently, the jailer did the prisoners.

The condition of the jail door became known when a jailer accidentally got against it and it opened. Upon investigating the lock it was found that one could walk in and out without a key.

When bank robbers and most dangerous criminals are kept in separate cells inside the jail, perhaps they have at some time or other been allowed the freedom of the jail.

DOUBT PRISONER AIDED MURDER

Man Who States He Was Involved In Death of Silvers Doubted

Eaton, O., Aug. 12.—"I think he is the wrong man."

This was the statement of Marshal Willard Armstrong, who returned here today from New York City where he had questioned Joseph Edelmann, 39, who surrendered to police there saying he was "involved" in the double slaying of Dr. H. Z. Silver, 55, an his wife, Lora, 58, here December 8, last.

Armstrong said Edelmann could supply no accurate details of the slayings and declared that Edelmann apparently was not at Eaton at the time of the slaying.

The New Yorker told Armstrong he had beat the couple to death. Dr. and Mrs. Silver were shot and killed by burglars who were surprised in looting the couple's "show-place" home here. The murders have never been solved.

Armstrong said his investigation would continue, however.

English Inventor Claims Death Ray

Guilford, Eng., Aug. 12.—Another claimant to the invention of a "death ray" has arisen in the person of John Moran Symes of this town. He is a pale, blue-eyed, innocent looking young man of 23 with a disarming smile and makes his living as a radio engineer.

But he claims that he can destroy distant armies by pressing a button. No actual large scale test has yet been made with the Symes death-ray — for if there had—according to the inventor, nobody would be left to tell the tale.

"My invention is the result of five years experimenting with sound waves," says Symes. "When I tell you that science has long realized that men and animals can be struck dead by a sound too highly pitched for the human ear to hear, you will have an idea of what I am driving at."

"Such sound waves would set up vibrations that would shatter the ear drums and the blood corpuscles, yet nobody would hear them. Death would come to them so suddenly that they would know nothing at all about it."

"I can set up waves that, although they cannot be heard, cause acute discomfort to anyone within 50 yards. I am now at work on a high-frequency apparatus which I believe will be absolutely lethal in its effects."

Producing Potash In Mohave Desert

New York, Aug. 12.—A ten-year struggle between science and nature at Searles Lake, Searles Lake, California has produced a new industry in America—potash. The useful salts, amounting to 400 tons are being produced in the recovery of the Mohave Desert alkalis.

Professor G. Ross Robertson of the University of California describes the new American industry in "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry."

"For years amateurs have stewed and evaporated the bitter waters of Searles Lake," Prof. Robertson declares. "In quest of alkali salts they crystallized, filtered, dissolved and analyzed. Usually they got nowhere."

Science today produces potash on the basis of thermostats and salt-phase diagrams. It is now a matter of manipulating phases, components, temperatures, pressures, and concentrations and "when the whistle blows" the scientist counts 240 tons of potassium chloride, 130 tons of borax and 10 tons of boric acid.

The importance of this new industry is pointed out by Prof. Robertson when he says that "America need be no longer a war blockade, against German and English potash," who are the principle producers of that substance.

Contractors Pushing Work On Lisbon-Elkton Road

Under the direction of W. C. Neff, county superintendent of state highways, crews are working night and day shifts in the construction of the new bituminous macadam road that will connect Lisbon with Elkton. The road is being put down at a cost of between $8,000 and $10,000 and will be opened to traffic probably next Saturday. Material is being unloaded at the Y & O siding and also at the Lincoln ave. yards of the Erie railroad.

With only five days to go until the last concrete would have been poured on the Elkton-Clarkson rd, the large concrete mixer used by Contractor George B. Patterson of Wellsville became disabled, and new parts had to be ordered from Milwaukee, Wis. Until the mixer has been repaired no concrete can be poured. It was the intent of Patterson to pour the last concrete on this section Tuesday.

Considerable Lincoln highway traffic will follow the new sections on this road and tap the East Liverpool-Youngstown concrete road in Ekrun township. With the opening of the New California hollow of this road in St. Clair and Liverpool townships, traffic will have a low grade road from Lisbon into East Liverpool. A wide berm is now being constructed on the south side of the narrow brick road extending through Elkton, and which will tap the new concrete highway now being built.

JAPAN SENDING STUDENT GROUP TO STUDY HERE

Fund Created by Famous Ambassador Used For Payment of Trip

Tokyo, Aug. 12.—Plans for sending a number of Japanese students to the United States for study under the Bancroft Memorial Fund have been materializing and the committee in charge is about to name two young Japanese who will leave in time to begin their work this fall. It is announced.

The fund was created by the brother and sister of the late Edgar A. Bancroft, American Ambassador to Japan, who died while in the field of duty here.

Personal Bonds
Mr. Bancroft came to Japan at a time when feeling against the United States was rather high because of the recent passage of the Immigration act. He soon became convinced that the only way relations between the two countries could be improved was to establish a strong personal bond between their respective peoples.

Because it was not feasible to have many American students come to Japan he thought that Japanese young men should go to the United States. His death cut short his plans along this line but his relatives looked in making the fund possible because they knew it was according to his wishes.

Japanese who go to America under the Bancroft Fund will be encouraged by entering small American colleges where they will be the only Japanese.

Leaving Soon
The first of these students, who will leave this summer, may go to Knox College, at Galesburg, Illinois, because that was Ambassador Bancroft's alma mater.

The Bancroft Fund now amounts to about $100,000 and will be increased to $150,000 in a few years. Because of this it will be possible to have quite a large number of students in America at the same time. A plan to have the fund "revolve" by agreeing that the students shall return the funds which they use after a period of 20 years or so is also expected to be put into effect.

At home or "on the wing" you can always enjoy ICE

ON BLISTERING hot days when you don't want to let ICE get out of your reach even long enough to answer that irresistible call of the great outdoors, why not let the family ice box be your friend in need?

Scorching highways and dusty byways have no terrors if at the end of the journey there be, in a cool shady spot, a delicious lunch, with plenty of ICE to soothe dry throats and revive wilted appetites.

Ice cream, ice-cold lemonade, iced tea and iced coffee, cold meats and cold salads—how much more satisfying such things taste way out "miles from nowhere" than when you are seated in the hot stuffy dining room at home.

Ice cream freezers, ice baskets, ice pails and thermos jugs extend the many advantages of the household ice refrigerator to the most remote nooks you choose for picnic parties.

No Embarrassing Disappointments
You never need fear an ice shortage, even on the hottest days or right in the midst of your biggest parties, if you are a regular ice customer. Just be sure that you have a good sized refrigerator and that you give your ice company instructions to keep the ice chamber well filled. Then, even when you take a generous supply of ice with you on your outings, you can return to a refrigerator that has been iced in your absence and is ready again to serve as only a good ICE refrigerator can do.

Outside Icing a Great Convenience

Of course, you can arrange with your ice company to make ice deliveries during your absence from home, even though you may not have an outside-icing refrigerator. But with an "Outside Icer," you can forget completely and for all time the question of ice supply. An "Outside Icer" permits the ice man to service the ice box in your absence.

Most ice refrigerator manufacturers now build outside icing models which cost very little more than regular models.

Ice Makes and Keeps the Air Just Right

A properly built ICE refrigerator of ample size affords an adequate supply of ice at all times, and provides just the atmosphere in which foods keep their full flavors and healthful juices. No quick drying out of foods—no interchange of flavors and odors! The circulating air is constantly changed and freshened; food odors are eliminated with the moisture through the outlet. This cooling cleansing process, with its refreshing effect on foods, goes on automatically every day, every hour, every minute.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

—By Wanda Barton—

"Is it serious?" That was a common question put about the early metal furniture offered for the home. You saw them at the various modernistic exhibitions—chilly, stately, squat, shapes and strange angles that looked anything but convenient.

Most of the first fine frenzies have vanished. And a lot of beautiful and useful metal decorative furnishings are now with us, and gaining in popularity. With good reason.

As far as practicality is concerned metal furniture has a good deal to commend it. It can be used without the glare of glass, the sparkle of chrome, the scratches, scuffs and stains, and all the other varieties of rough home treatment which furniture gets in a lively household. It doesn't fade, it doesn't rust, it doesn't get scratched, it doesn't get scratched, it doesn't get scratched.

Of course, the grain and color of wood make furniture a joy to the eye, and so the makers of metal furniture for home use are imitating grain and color so cunningly that it not only deceives the eye but even the touch. Feel this apparently maple or mahogany table, and it's difficult to believe that it is not wood. Beds, chests of drawers, desks, dressers, vanity table and living room "occasional" pieces are now being made in metal.

Not all of it simulates wood of course. The coffee tables, console sets, end tables, candelabras, telephone cabinets, are made of brass, wrought iron, and finished in antique style, or burnished. Combinations of metal with marble or ivory are popular for tables and cabinets.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Aug. 12.—Flatly speaking, furs will furnish much feminine chic and warmth this winter, judging from the early ones appearing in the smart collections of the rue de la Paix. Fine kid skins, breitch-wantz and similar supple furs are being used like fabrics. Closely shaven pelt of all kinds are fashioned exactly as if they were cloth.

One dressmaker is featuring jackets of black broadtail which have a full triangle of white fur set in like a hood at the back of the neck and deep rounded pieces of the same white on the lower part of the sleeve. Worn with a frock of crepe satin with a plain black skirt and white bodice, it makes an ideal costume for early autumn.

Another lovely autumn outfit in this collection consists of a long circular cape of broadtail with a folded collar of black broadtail worn with a frock of beige and black printed crepe satin.

A lovely golden brown broadtail is so supple that it is tucked and scalloped and arranged in folds just like soft velvet. A full length coat of this brown fur is lined with wide wavy stripes of red and velvet with a scarf of the same jersey attached inside the collar and falling nearly to the bottom of the skirt.

A short jacket of the same is lined with jersey in tiny stripes of brown, beige and yellow, and worn with a plain little frock of the same woolen material. A three-quarter length coat of beige baby lamb is made with a yoke across the shoulders and a narrow rounded collar. It has square pockets and cuffs of six or seven folds of the fur.

White broadtail trims a number of charming tweed coats, although a few of the designers prefer the long-haired varieties such as lynx or fox for autumn costumes.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

If the family doesn't like spinach cook chard. Quite as good as far as mineral value is concerned, but it hasn't the peculiar flavor which some people dislike in spinach.

Chard is a rather strange green vegetable. It looks like a bunch of overgrown romaine lettuce. Actually it is a white beet cultivated for leaf, stalk and midrib instead of for the root. The leaves are dark green, with a thick white midrib, and leaves and midrib are cooked as two separate dishes.

Another advantage of using chard instead of spinach (from the cook's point of view this time) is that chard is relatively clean. Spinach requires soaking in cold water for some time until it frees itself of sand. Chard requires no more cleaning than a bunch of lettuce and so can be prepared more quickly.

To prepare chard cut off the root end and wash the bunch in cold water. Then strip the leaves from the stalk and cook as you would cook spinach, for 20 or 30 minutes until tender.

The stalks are cooked separately. They are cut into four-inch lengths and cooked until tender, which may be anywhere from 15 minutes to half an hour. They can then be served hot like celery or asparagus, or cold as a salad.

Chard leaves can be cooked with any other leaves—tops of radishes, turnips or beets, which will give an additional pleasant flavor of its own—it requires seasoning and the addition of other spices. Its value for the table lies not in flavor, but in its lack of the objectionable spinach flavor, although it has the mineral merits of that much-maligned vegetable.

Stewed Chard Leaves

2 bunches chard.
1 bunch scallions.
1 slice salt pork.

Cut the scallions into four-inch lengths. Put in saucepan with the chard leaves stripped from their stalks, add the salt pork and cover. No water need be added as the drops adhering to the leaves after washing provides sufficient moisture. Cook over a low flame for about 30 minutes, testing for tenderness from time to time. Serve hot.

Creamed Chard Leaves

2 bunches chard.
2 tablespoons butter.
1/2 cup thick cream.
1 teaspoon salt.

Cook the chard leaves in a saucepan until tender. Then chop as you would spinach, return to saucepan with butter and seasoning and toss together. Add cream last and when hot through serve at once.

Chard Ribs

2 bunches chard.
2 tablespoons butter.
1/2 lemon.
1 teaspoon salt.
1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Cut the stalks into four-inch lengths and cook in a little boiling the slaying of a second druggist and the shooting of a watchman in a six months' career as robbers.

 The new confession, police said,
 cleared up the murder of Raymond,
 Oak Park pharmacist, on June 18.
 "I shot him because he looked dangerous," explained Nicholson.
 "When I ordered hands up, he gave us a sharp glance. It was no time for fooling, so I let him have it."

Hitting By Hornsby Real Asset To Cubs In National Race

Bruins Again Add To Lead As Bucs Lose

BY HENRY McLEMORE
New York, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Rogers Hornsby, wandering "bat boy" of baseball, seems at last to have found a place where he can rest his head in peace.

For so far this year nothing but the most optimistic reports have come out of Chicago concerning the rajah's department and everybody from Manager Joe McCarthy to the gentleman in question seem pleased. And Chicago should be duly thankful that Rogers and the Cubs are clicking so nicely. For if you think that fighting spirit and big bat of Hornsby's aren't due a large share of credit in putting and keeping the Cubs where they are, you haven't been reading the box scores.

Take yesterday's game for example. Big Bob Smith, a real pitcher, had the Cubs all tied and ready for delivery—that is, all save Hornsby. He managed to rap out a homer, a double and a single to account for all of the three Cubs runs which were enough for victory.

Robins Trim Bucs
Thus the Cubs picked up another game on the Pirates who sadly watched the Robins smack out three homers and a double in the eighth inning for a 5 to 3 win. The flatbush gang were trailing 3 to 1 with two down when Frederick lifted one over the fence. Herman followed with a double and Hendrick and Bissonette came along with successive four base wallops.

Lanky Carl Hubbell held the Reds to five hits and his giant compatriots scored an easy 6 to 1 win in the only other game scheduled for the National.

American League conditions remained the same as both Philadelphia and New York were beaten. Despite Babe Ruth's 30th homer of the year and 500th since entering the major leagues, the Indians turned back the Yanks 6 to 5 Lou Gehrig also collected a home run, his 27th.

Detroit spotted Philadelphia five runs in the first inning and then by the aid of timely hitting by Hargrave and Johnson went on to win 9 to 8 in the eleventh.

Alphonse Thomas held the Red Sox to five hits and the White Sox won the second of the series, 6 to 3. The Browns lost to Washington 7 to 5 and dropped from third to fourth place.

Pilots Warned In Forest Fire Fear

San Francisco, Aug. 12.—Air mail commercial and passenger aviation lines were today warned by U. S. Forestry officials here to adopt strict measures to prevent the throwing of burning tobacco from their planes.

This action was taken when tests proved that lighted cigars and cigarette butts, thrown from airplanes, constitute a serious fire menace. Government planes carried out the tests. Lighted cigars and fags, with a bright colored cotton streamer attached to each as a means of locating them when they fell to the ground, were thrown out at altitudes up to 1,000 feet. Most of the "smokes" were still burning when picked up.

Business Men Meet Mullins

Only Important Mushball Game Scheduled At Park Tonight

The Mullins mushball aggregation makes its second assault on the undefeated record of the Damascene Business Men, when it clashes with the champions at Centennial park tonight.

Chances for a Mullins victory don't look any too good since the Quakers had an easy time in defeating the body makers for the first half title, but the Mullins tossers gave great promise in defeating the colonial Billiards and may spring a surprise.

The game is scheduled to get going after the Sanitary-Maccabees contest, scheduled for 6 o'clock.

This second contest is the only battle of any importance in the league this week as the Billiards, who still remain a contender for the second half title, meet the Post Office Tuesday night. The week's schedule is both mushball and hardball leagues follows:

Softball Games
Monday—Sanitary vs Maccabees; Damascene vs Mullins.

Tuesday—Electric Furnace vs Merchants; Post Office vs Billiards.

Wednesday—Kivans Club vs Post Office.

Hardball Schedule
Thursday—Masons vs Electric Furnace Co.

Friday—Pottery vs Billiards.

Dun Eden Wallops Braddock Firemen

Hitting three pitchers for 21 hits and 34 bases, Dun Eden lake easily swamped the strong Braddock, Pa. Firemen, 16-4, at Dun Eden, Sunday afternoon.

The lake team presented its strongest lineup of the season, and batted Martin, Braddock star hurler off the mound in five innings, then connected with offerings of Atolie, relief hurler, for nine markers in the sixth.

Hyvotic performed on the slab for Dun Eden, and was seldom in trouble. Score by innings—4 9 1 Braddock 1 0 1 1 0 0 0—4 9 1 Dun Eden 1 0 0 2 2 9 0 2 x—16 21 3 Batteries—Braddock—Martin, Atolie, Stach and Wiehagen, Dun Eden: Hyvotic and Vincent.

Hartford, Conn.—The old-fashioned country fair is still going strong in Connecticut. S. McL. Buckingham, state commissioner of agriculture, has been notified of no less than 30 such fairs planned for the state from August 28 to October 12, inclusive.

The annual report of the fish and game division of Ohio discloses the fact that 427,589 hunters paid their dollars into the coffers of Ohio for the privilege to hunt last year and that 81,245 fishermen paid a like amount to use rod and reel in the waters of Ohio.

This resulted in a total $516,625 being paid into the department in license fees by Ohio hunters and fishermen. In addition to this hunters from out of the state paid $245 to take game in Ohio, and $2,372 was gleaned from out-of-state fishermen. Fines imposed totaled $24,519, while commercial fishermen paid $22,955 for the privilege of netting the waters of Lake Erie.

The total receipts amounted to $571,280, while expenditures were $542,429, leaving quite a nice profit for the year's operation.

Expenditures included salaries of personnel of the department, maintenance of fish hatcheries, game propagation, and other things essential to the department.

The irony seems in the fishing license fund. Only those who used reels were taxed for fishing privileges, yet money was spent in raising and stocking fish that are taken exclusively by the non-reel fishermen as well as many game fish taken in this manner by unlicensed fishermen.

Of course they are within the law in not taking out a license, but it does not seem quite fair to those paying the freight. Many, however, purchased the license, even if no reel was to be used. More should do it.

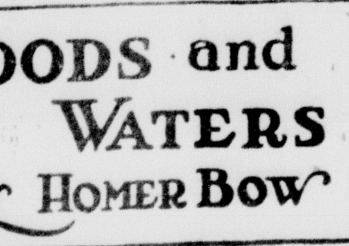

The entire department is maintained by sportsmen without a cent of cost to taxpayers.

And This Is Ohio!

Rattlesnakes within 35 miles of Canton? Impossible, in the opinion of those people who have had any acquaintance at all with the reptiles. But majority opinion would be wrong in this case.

H. C. Graham, Canton man, who is game warden for both Stark and Wayne counties, was called over to Wooster one day during the past week and his duties took him into the marshes along the Killbuck just below Moreland. There he encountered one Mr. Jones, who operates a large section of the marsh as a muskrat farm and lives on a knoll within the marsh district.

Mr. Jones reached into a pocket and drew out a handful of small objects—apparently constructed in sections of a horny substance, a dirty tan in color.

"Want some of 'em?" asked Jones, as he extended the collection to Graham.

"Rattles. Sure, I'll take a couple. Who sent 'em to you?" countered the game warden, who became familiar with both rattlers and muskrats while trapping in the south some years ago.

"Nobody sent 'em to me. They grow right around here," explained the muskrat farmer. And Graham cast several anxious glances earthward, but stood his ground. "Want to go out and get a couple live ones? It won't take long."

Graham declined the invitation, under pressure of other and more official business, but he stuck around long enough to glean the information that the marshes are teeming with rattlesnakes this year, those of the swamp variety. They grow to a maximum length of about four feet and are heavy in the body.

According to Jones, he has killed over 20 during the past two weeks but hasn't made any great impression on the snake population of the marsh. In fact, the rattlers have become so numerous that they are interfering with the operations of a sand pit nearby, scaring the workmen away.

But Jones continues to live in his shack on the knoll without fear. And, as usual, there's a reason. He has a couple of nice blacksnakes, large and active, on the knoll with him. It's an old and accepted rby some truth that a blacksnake will chase the legs off a rattler and lick him every time.

Fishing Boat Tactics
At the funeral of a fisherman who has fallen from a boat or who has been thrown into the water after a boat has been overturned, how often do you hear it stated that "he was an excellent swimmer?"

A man who can not swim a stroke has an equal chance with a good swimmer if he keeps cool. Almost every instance of a drowning of this kind results from excitement following the shock of suddenly finding yourself in the water.

The water will keep you cool outside, but it is up to you to keep cool inside, and if you do, the chances of a tragic ending to an accident are slight.

Nearly always, a wooden boat or a canoe will keep you afloat as well as one with an air chamber. It will not, however, if you attempt to climb on top of it. Merely resting the hands on the overturned or water-filled craft will enable you to keep your head above the surface.

Take it easy.

If you must call for help, a few well directed shouts with plenty of power behind them will serve as well as excited crying.

Conserve your strength.

Do not wear high lace shoes when fishing in a boat. They are a great hindrance if you must swim.

Keep tackle neatly arranged so that it does not impede movement. Step in the center of the boat when moving around.

First, last and always, keep your head.

Electrical Fishing
A press report from Muenster, Westphalia, over in Europe, gloated in the fact that electrical fishing was now just the thing. A pond with a surface area of two acres was charged with electricity, and "up came 350 pounds of carp and pike that easily were netted."

Dandy stuff! It is so much nicer to merely throw a switch to get your fish than to have to battle with them on a rod or be bothered by the danger of carrying dynamite.

The method is not entirely new, as in a nearby state several years ago, an ambitious (?) fisherman tapped a convenient trolley wire for the same purpose. His corpse was badly burnt.

Fish Game Exhibit
The fish and game exhibit of the department of agriculture will be at the Stark county fair this fall, according to an announcement by the state division. Cages of bears, coyotes, ducks, hawks, owls and pheasants form the display.

Atlanta—Only the memory of Company G, 35th Georgia regiment of the Confederacy, remains today, following the death here of David H. Mobley, 89, the last survivor of its detachment.

Risko Hurt In Auto Accident

Cleveland Heavyweight Boxer, Girl Friend Suffer Injuries

Cleveland, Aug. 12.—Johnny Risko, popular Cleveland heavyweight boxer, and Miss Sue Herman of Lakewood, were injured early today when a front tire on Risko's automobile blew out, twisting the car out of his control and wrecking it on a concrete and iron lamp standard.

Risko received minor bruises and scratches. Miss Herman suffered a scalp wound and severe cuts on her legs. Both were able to go to their homes where they were taken by a Lakewood emergency squad.

The accident happened as the fighter and Miss Herman were returning from Euclid Beach park, where they had been dancing. Risko's car struck a wash-out rut in an unlighted section of Edgewater drive, causing the tire to explode.

The flattened tire jerked the wheel out of Risko's control, swung the automobile over a curb and into the lamp standard. Risko and Miss Herman were hurled to the floor of the car.

$1,000,000 FOR PHILADELPHIA WOMEN'S HOTEL

Unfortunates to Be Able To Live At Low Cost In New Building

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—A free apartment hotel, where widows and other women who have been deserted by their husbands, regardless of their religious faith, may live the remainder of their lives free of charge, will be erected here in the near future.

According to the will of Dr. George Harrison, who has bequeathed his entire estate of $1,000,000 to this cause, the hotel will be a memorial to his mother, the late Mrs. Bertha Warneck Lewowicz.

The woman physician will provide that a board of managers shall be organized to act with the trustees in the establishment and maintenance of the hotel.

Free To Guests
The board will be composed of a representative of the board of City Trustees, the cardinal of the Roman Catholic church in Philadelphia and the leaders of the Protestant and Jewish faiths.

The building will be comparable in size and appointments with other apartment hotels in the city. There will be no charge for guests but they will be allowed to contribute to its support.

Guests when once admitted will be allowed to remain for the remainder of their lives unless disapproved by the board of managers under such rules and regulations as may be provided.

After the establishment of this hotel here and when funds in the hands of the trustees are sufficient for the purpose, a similar institution is to be established in Jerusalem. This will be known as the Jerusalem Extension.

In explaining the purpose of the apartment hotel and her reasons for providing for its erection, Dr. Harrison declared it was her intention of rendering a lasting service to her adopted City of Philadelphia as well as paying a lasting tribute to the memory of her mother.

It was her belief that in many cases widows in modest circumstances often are left practically homeless upon the death of their husbands, or that many have children who are unwilling to contribute to their support.

Live In Comfort
Her years of experience with those of modest means led her to the conclusion that she could do a lasting good by providing a good home with all modern accommodations where such women might spend the remainder of their lives in comfort.

Before organization of the board of managers and construction of the apartment actually takes place Dr. Harrison's husband, John I. Harrison, builder, and several other relatives are to receive the income from the estate. George A. Welsh and the Continental Equitable Trust company are executors and trustees. The estate includes a great deal of realty and large holdings of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Dr. Harrison who was born in Europe and came to this city at an early age, was stricken last week in the office of General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad. She was consulting him regarding her investments.

Start Work On New University Building

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 12.—Steam shovels have started excavations for the $1,750,000 international house, gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to the University of California.

The new building, to house students of all nations, will occupy approximately a square block. It will provide accommodations for 450 students, one fourth of these being reserved for Americans.

In addition to commodious sleeping quarters, the house will contain large social halls, discussion group rooms for consideration of international problems, small dining rooms and kitchens in which various foreign groups may serve dinners in their national style, an auditorium seating between 800 and 1,000 and a central dining room for 1,000 persons.

In anticipation of the opening of the building in August, 1930, Director Allen C. Blaisdell, son of the president of Claremont college, is laying plans for an international student organization which will start functioning with the opening of the University, August 15.

MAKING MOVIES FOR SOCIETY IS PARISIAN HOBBY

Public Never to Witness Showing of Finished Product

Paris, Aug. 12.—Making their own movies has become the dominating interest of leading society circles here.

The public will never see the finished products—also! For these are only displayed in private, at the new movie parties which are taking the place of the former balls of old.

This party's done away with such extravagant details such as costly supper and music, leaving instead a simple affair of guests in evening dress that are available for public motion pictures.

Among the latest parties which are being held at the new super-film is a party given by the Countess de Montigny, who is the Countess de Montigny, and Count de Montigny, who play comedy roles in the leading roles.

A film in preparation at the palace of the Prince of Monaco is being made with the greatest possible secrecy and even in the center of the city and the east.

Invitations to the parties are at a premium among his friends, although the picture is not expected to be shown for two or three months if not longer.

The Viscount and Viscountess de Noailles are at work on a spectacular film, which is also being conducted in the dark so to speak.

The reputation of the Viscountess for modernity in everything from poetry to parties, and for the unexpected in all her entertainments leads her friends to expect something of a very sensational nature.

The two leading roles will be taken by the Countess de Montigny and the Countess de Montigny. The film is said to be "The Mystery of Tumbler House."

Shorter hours, more outdoor play, and less routine is advocated for the students here by the Academy of Medicine.

A picture of the French student as the driven slave of hard-boiled pedagogues is drawn by the National Council of Women has resulted in an investigation by the Academy of Parisian school conditions.

The present system has a bad effect on the health of the students, both in their and primary schools, it is found. A move is being made to have school hours to two hours for small children and seven for the older, with plenty of physical exercise.

The suburbs are proving the ruin of the future for client may-

One line in Paris has already installed an apparatus to throw pictures on the ceiling for bored passengers.

Now one may ride up and down town forgetting all business engagements, entertained in the latest adventures of Summe, the Carole, the Countess de Montigny, the Countess de Montigny.

One takes a change in Paris, as well as in France, every time one looks at it. From one part of the town to another.

Taxis, as well as street cars and bus lines are feeling strongly the effect of this new attraction introduced by their rival. One driver is complaining the subways on their own ground by offering his passengers stereoscopic views of bathing beauties while en route.

The street cars and buses rely on the passing scenery to entertain their patrons with sufficient entertainment and have been spurred on to add the public to "See Paris on Street Car" and "The Capital of France—Regard it by Day."

"Dinner late" Off with her head! And with the melancholy words of the White Queen, Jules Blumenthal cut his wife's throat.

The picture was a total one, and if M. Blumenthal gets out of jail alive he will have to prepare his own dinner, late or early.

Another wife with culinary imperfections is lying at the point of death in a hospital here, one Madame Henri Deligny.

Madame Deligny burned the potatoes which sacrificed so enraged her lord and master that he shot her.

He is now eating at the prison where they keep the chief well beyond gun shot.

Police Arrest 30 In Raid On House

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Thirty men were arrested and 60 machines seized during a sensational week end raid by state troopers upon the luxurious half way house, heavily patronized by wealthy patrons of means at Saratoga Springs.

Boatloads of other gambling paraphernalia valued at more than $10,000 was seized by the troopers.

Alexander Paton, charged with operating gambling place, is said to be one of the heaviest plunkers at the race track. He is to be arraigned today.

Judith of the Peace Ross Taylor, charged the beautifully decorated house, room, bath, and kitchen, and several times of $10,000, 20 men found in the place.

To thwart burglars, steel bars that were cutting have been installed, having inner cores that revolve when saws touch them.

"DRAG"

Richard Barthelmess, First-National-Vitaphone star, again registers a talking picture hit with "Drag," his newest starring vehicle which is at the State theater. "Drag" presents the star in a dramatic narrative concerning a young, ambitious newspaperman who goes to a small town to edit the local weekly paper. While there he falls in love with a girl and after marrying her finds himself supporting a whole family of parasitic "uncles."

He composes a musical show called "The Love Prince" for the local women's guild, to succeed in convincing him to go to New York, sell his paper, and find that happiness which so eluded him in the small town.

The story of "Drag" is based on the novel by William Dudley Pelley and was directed by Frank Lloyd, who also made "Weary River." The supporting cast is headed by Lola Lane, Alice Day, Katherine Ward, Margaret Fielding, Lucien Littlefield, and Tom Dugan. "Drag" is a hundred per cent all-talking picture.

"SPEAKEASY"

"Speakeasy," one of the most convincing dialogue pictures yet to reach the screen, is on view at the Royal theater. It is a story of New York acted by a cast of thoroughly competent stage players and is so realistic that it leaves the theater with the thought of having just returned from a journey to the great metropolis.

Aside from the brilliant performance given by the players and each one is effective in their respective roles, this all-dialogue play is filled with numerous, inspiring "shots" which keep the onlooker in a prolonged gasp of astonishment.

If you can imagine the thrill of watching and hearing a crowd of some 20,000 enthusiastic boxing fans "hitting on all six" in the famous Madison Square Garden, or watching and hearing New York subway trains thunder and boom in and out of stations, or watch and listen to the great crowd of people in the Grand Central terminal in New York without having seen and heard them before then you need never attend another motion picture show—you can sit home and imagine them.

While all these innovations tend to stir your enthusiasm the story is no less interesting, molding as it does, the dramatic thread with the spoken lines.

The players, all newcomers, recruited from the legitimate stage, cover themselves with glory. Paul Page, Lola Lane, our old friend Henry B. Walthall, Sharon Lynn, Helen Wray, and others are excellent in their characterizations.

DAVIDSON

With the sole thought in mind that if nominated and elected as the Republican candidate, I will give to the Salem community the best service possible, Davidson continued.

Every day brings its new problems, new situations. Nine out of ten of the problems and situations are governed by the laws of the state, and there is no use trying to force the people just what a mayor will do in making pre-election statements.

During my campaign, I have been frequently asked my attitude toward law enforcement. There is only one answer to this query, and that is that I heartily favor the enforcement of all laws—not just particular sections—as they now appear in the State Code. This is the only just and reasonable answer that could be returned to all such queries.

I know sufficient about the affairs of the municipal government of Salem to realize that the state code governs the acts of each and every official. Each official must adhere strictly to the code in the conduct of his office. A candidate for office in making extravagant promises what he will do if only feeling himself and not the citizenship. It is because of this fact that I have not made such extravagant promises other than that it will be my purpose at all times to give the public such service as it is justly entitled to.

My sole platform is to serve the people honestly and without favor, and thereby give to the public the best municipal business service possible," he concluded.

PITTSBURGH TO TRY MOVIES ON SUNDAY NIGHTS

"Dead Sabbath" Hit Hard In Statements; Mayor Starts Movement

Pittsburgh, Aug. 12.—A new experiment in functions of a well-managed city government is about to be tried out in Pittsburgh, because of waste of the populace that the town is "dead" on Sundays.

A plan had been completed and action was under way today by Mayor Charles H. Kline to furnish Sabbath moving pictures, under supervision of the city.

Long hot Sunday nights in Pittsburgh had been greeted in the past with scant enthusiasm from the residents. The neighborhood movie palaces were closed and there was little to do.

Parks Crowded
True, the parks were jammed with thousands of persons, but there was little by way of excitement.

Schenley, Highland McKinley and West Parks, four of the largest in the city, for the balance of the summer will furnish thrills via the silver screen. Mayor Kline, unable to get an appropriation from the council to finance the shows, appealed to sponsors of the idea and the amount was privately subscribed.

The ban against Sunday moving pictures privately owned had given the city a reputation for being "doggo," which is to say dead on the seventh day. Thousands of persons complained at curtailment of their favorite pastime.

The city now will supply that amusement as an experiment in municipal activities. The films shown will be "clean and educational," according to the mayor. There will be no wild west plays, no sex dramas, and nothing to stir the blood and increase the heartbeat of watchers.

Educational Films
Nevertheless they will be movies with the sound effects produced by thousands of children cheering, peacocks, catcalling at the villain and lustily cheering the hero, even if he happens to be a moth whose life history is being depicted for the educational benefit of the masses.

The Mayor as yet has not even a dozen as to whether or not bathing beauty parades and similar "news events" will be included in the shows but the public, eager for Sunday night diversion already has indicated its intention of giving the innovation heavy patronage. From sheer curiosity, if from nothing else.

Eckener's Nephew Heir to Fortune

Cleveland, Aug. 12.—George Wolf, nephew of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, is an heir to estates totaling approximately $300,000 marks in Düsseldorf and Berlin, Germany. It was learned here today.

The estates were left by Wolf's mother, a sister of Dr. Eckener—who died recently.

Wolf, an insurance salesman lived here in moderate circumstances. He is married and the father of three children. His inheritance is expected to amount to more than $110,000.
